

I am in favor of RM-10352, which will afford protected space for narrow spectrum modes on the 160 meter band. This separation already exists on the other amateur bands and has proven to be a very effective means of promoting experimentation and operating with weak signals and various digital modes.